

Michael Pye, Modern Japan and the Science of Religions
Jun'ichi Isomae, The Establishment of Modern Shintology and the Role of Tanaka Yoshito
Fumihiko Sueki, Buddhism in the History of Japanese Religion: Research History and Research Methods
Mark Teeuwen, Comparative Perspectives on the Emergence of Jindo and Shinto
Gaynor Sekimori, Shugendo: Japanese Mountain Religion - State of the Field and Bibliographic Review
Noriko Kawahashi, Folk Religion and its Contemporary Issues
Mary Evelyn Tucker, Religious Dimensions of Confucianism: Cosmology and Cultivation
Ian Reader, Chronologies, Commonalities and Alternative Status in Japanese New Religious Movements: Defining NRMS outside the Western Cul-De-Sac
Kazuhiko Yoshida, The Thesis That Prince Shôtoku Did Not Exist
Allan Grapard, Japan's Ignored Cultural Revolution: The Separation of Shinto and Buddhist Divinities In Meiji (shimbutsu bunri) and a Case Study: Tonomine
Satoshi Sonehara, The Establishment of Early Modern Buddhism
Susumu Shimazono, The Commercialization of the Sacred: The Structural Evolution of Religious Communities in Japan
Paul Swanson, "Zen Is Not Buddhism": Recent Japanese Critiques of Buddha-Nature
Bernard Faure, The Buddhist Icon and the Modern Gaze
Ikuo Higashibaba, Historiographical Issues in the Studies of the "Christian Century" in Japan
Susumu Shimazono, New Age and New Spiritual Movements: The role of Spiritual Intellectuals
George Tanabe, Jr, The Death and Rebirth of Buddhism in Contemporary Japan

Volume 2: Institutional Issues/Religion and the State/Nationalism

Organization
Stephen Covell, The Temple/Juridical Person: Law and the Temple in Japan
Mark Teeuwen, Jinja Honcho and Shrine Shinto policy
Anne-Marie Bouchy, The Cult of Mount Atago and the Atago Confraternities

State and Religion/National Identity and Religion
Shoji Okada, The Development of State Ritual in Ancient Japan
Fabio Rambelli, The Emperor's New Robes: Processes of Resignification in Shingon Imperial Rituals
Toshio Kuroda, The Imperial Law and the Buddhist Law
Kiri Paramore, Anti-Christian Ideas and National Ideology: Inoue Enryo and Inoue Tetsujiro's Mobilization of Sectarian History in Meiji Japan
Christopher Ives, Protect the Dharma, Protect the Country: Buddhist War Responsibility and Social Ethics
Jacqueline Stone, Nichiren's Activist Heirs: Soka Gakkai, Rissho Koseikai and Nipponzan Myohoji
Helen Hardacre, Constitutional Revision and Japanese Religions
Ian Reader, Consensus Shattered: Japanese Paradigm Shifts and Moral Panic in the Post-Aum Era

Time/Myth/History
Paul Groner, Shortening the Path: Early Tendai Interpretations of the Realization of Buddhahood in This Very Body (Sokushin Jobutsu)
Lucia Dolce, On the Use of Prophecy in Mediaeval Japan
Robert Kisala, 1999 and Beyond: The Use of Nostradamus' Prophecies by Japanese Religions
Mark MacWilliams, Revisioning Japanese Religiosity: Tezuka Osamu's Hi no Tori (The Phoenix)
Volume 3: Sacred Space
Allan Grapard, Geosophia, Geognosis, and Geopiety: Orders of Significance in Japanese Representations of space
David Gardiner, Mandala, Mandala on the Wall: Variations of Usage in the Shingon School
Lucia Dolce, Mapping the "Divine Country:" Sacred Geography and International Concerns in Mediaeval Japan
Nobutaka Inoue, From Religious Conformity to Innovation: New Ideas of Religious Journey and Holy Places
John Breen, The Dead and the Living in the Land of Peace: A Sociology of the Shrine

Literary and Visual Narratives/Representations
William LaFleur, Saigyo and the Buddhist Value of Nature (Part I)
Caroline Hiratasawa, The Inflatable, Collapsible Kingdom of Retribution: A Primer on Japanese Hell Imagery and Imagination
Matthew Eynon, Japanese Modern Religious Manga
Noriko Reider, Ommyoji: Sex, Pathos, and Grotesquery in Yumemakura Baku's Oni
Christine Guth, Mapping Sectarian Identity: Onjoji's Statue of Shinra Myojo
Gregory Levine, Switching Sites and Identity: The Founder's Statue at the Zen Buddhist Temple Korin' in Richard Jaffe, Buddhist Material Culture, "Indianism," and the Construction of Pan-Asian Buddhism in Prewar Japan
Nancy Stalker, Art and New Religions: From Deguchi Onisaburo to the Miho Museum

Gender and Japanese Religions
Junko Nishiguchi, Trends in the Study of Women and Buddhism
Noriko Kawahashi, Jizoku (Priests' Wives) In Soto Zen Buddhism: An Ambiguous Category
Meredith Underwood, Strategies of Survival: Women, Abortion, and Popular Religion in Contemporary Japan
Kunimitsu Kawamura, The Life of Shamanness: Scenes from the Shamanism of Northeastern Japan in Folk Beliefs in Modern Japan
Fumiko Miyazaki, Female Pilgrims and Mt. Fuji: Changing Perspectives on the Exclusion of Women

Volume 4: Rituals (Institutional and Not) / The Practice of Religion
Robert Sharf, Thinking through Shingon Ritual
Richard Payne, The Shingon Subordinating Fire Offering for Amitobha, "Amida Kei Ai Goma"
R. F. Rhodes, Seeking the Pure Land in Heian Japan: The Practices of the Monks of the Nijugo Zammai-e
Gaynor Sekimori, The Akinomine of Haguro Shugendó: A Historical Perspective
Scott Schnell, Ritual as an Instrument of Political Resistance in Rural Japan
Helen Hardacre, The Transformation of Healing in the Japanese New Religions
Lucia Dolce, The Worship of Celestial Bodies in Japan: Politics, Rituals and Icons
Karen Smyers, Of Foxes, Buddhas, and Shinto Kami: The Synergetic Nature of Inari Beliefs
Janine Sawada, Mind and Morality in Nineteenth-Century Japanese Religions: Misogi-kyō and Maruyama-kyō
Massimo Raveri, In Search of a New Interpretation of Ascetic Experience
Carmen Blacker, The Religious Traveller in the Edo Period

Death and Other Worlds
Neil McMullin, On Placating the Gods and Pacifying the Populace: The Case of the Gion "Goryo" Cult
Ellen Schattschneider, Buy Me a Bride: Death and Exchange in Northern Japanese Bride Doll Marriage
Elizabeth Kenney, Shinto Mortuary Rites in Contemporary Japan
Mark Mullins, Japanese Christians and the World of the Dead
William Bodiford, Zen in the Art of Funerals: Ritual Salvation in Japanese Buddhism